Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts (1) We have not used OCR(Optical Character Recognition), as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos. (2) In books where there are images such as portraits, maps, sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images, so they represent accurately the original artefact. Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts, we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy.

Excerpt from Practical Pathology: An Introduction to the Practical Study of Morbid Anatomy and Histology To his respected teacher and ever indulgent friend, Dr. Joseph Coats, the author has to express his gratitude for much valuable advice and kindly encouragement in his undertaking; and to the friends, who have aided him in passing the Volume through the press, he tenders his best thanks.
